This Is Michigan State University

Life Science I, completed this summer at a cost of $9.6 million, is the newest building in Michigan State University's complex of faculties and facilities that jointly serve its medical, osteopathic medical and veterinary medical programs.

Medical history is being made at Michigan State University by a combination of medical doctors, osteopathic physicians and veterinarians working with basic scientists in a montage of three medical colleges.

Example: Every Monday through Friday at 8 a.m. MSU's 36 first-year D.O. students learn basic physiology with 85 first-year M.D. students from Ph.D. professors who also instruct D.V.M. students.

While the course will last for only one term, and is the only one that the students are sharing, it is symbolic of the cooperation that exists at MSU among the College of Human Medicine, the College of Osteopathic Medicine and the College of Veterinary Medicine.

To avoid duplication and insure integration the three colleges share many of the same basic science faculty through the joint administration of the anatomy, microbiology, pathology, pharmacology and physiology departments. In addition, other colleges, particularly the Colleges of Social Science, Natural Science, and Agriculture and Natural Resources have interlocking departmental relationships with the three medical colleges.

Because the training of D.O.s, D.V.M.s, and M.D.s is similar in many respects, it would be possible to have many joint courses if the colleges were following the traditional pattern of two years of basic science courses followed by two years of clinical (patient-contact) training.

Each, however, is trying to condense the wealth of scientific knowledge that has been generated in recent years into courses that are most pertinent to each profession. All three, for example, are attempting to make basic science relevant to patient care by starting clinical training in the first term.

There are also some differences of opinion among the colleges in respect to clinical practice, educational techniques and other professional matters. But these differences are openly discussed and there is a general feeling that if the differences are to be resolved, it will happen in a university context.

This attitude is stressed by the three deans: For example, Myron S. Magen, D.O., dean of the College of Osteopathic Medicine: "When we talk about osteopathic medicine, we are talking about something that is a little less empirical than psychiatry. There is no question that what we do works, but it is difficult to scientifically document. We are now in a position to provide that documentation."

Andrew D. Hunt, Jr., M.D., dean of the College of Human Medicine: "The social and political differences that have traditionally separated the professions will be more difficult to overcome than the differences in medical practice."

Willis W. Armistead, D.V.M., Ph.D., dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine: "Because of the many similarities in the basic sciences of human and animal disease, human and veterinary doctors can learn much from one another."

Lombardi Award Awaits Stillwagon's successor

The player voted college football's "Outstanding Lineman" for the 1971 season will be honored January 14, at the second annual Vince Lombardi Awards Banquet in Houston, Texas. The Lombardi Award, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Houston, will go to the player chosen by a select committee of coaches and sportswriters from throughout the country.

Recipient of the first Lombardi Award was JIM STILLWAGON OF OHIO STATE. He was selected from finalists including Larry Di Nardo of Notre Dame, Chip Kell of Tennessee and Rock Perdoni of Georgia Tech. All were in attendance at the first Lombardi Awards Banquet.

The Lombardi Award for linemen is unique in that a player, to be eligible, must be an offensive or defensive lineman, end-to-end, setting up no further than 10 yards to left or right of the ball; or a linebacker setting up no further than five yards deep from the line of scrimmage.

Designed by artist Mark Storm, the award is a 45-pound mounted block of granite symbolizing self-discipline, the trademark of the Lombardi style of football. Lombardi's first fame was as a member of the Fordham line that sportswriters dubbed the "Seven Blocks of Granite."

The award was conceived following Mr. Lombardi's death from cancer in September, 1970. Mrs. Marie Lombardi, the coach's widow, authorized the Rotary Club of Houston and the American Cancer Society to establish the award, the only collegiate award authorized by the Lombardi family in honor of her late husband.

OHIO STATERS SHOW 38 YEARS OF SERVICE

The Buckeye Grove, located north of the men's gymnasium-natatorium is a current project of the Ohio Staters, Inc. Buckeye trees have been planted in recognition of Ohio State's all-Americans.

Thirty-eight years ago, nine Ohio State students joined in an effort to engage in activities promoting the welfare of The Ohio State University and enhance its prestige. They called themselves Ohio Staters and they started a tradition of service which survives today, stronger than ever. Those funny guys who talk your ear off to sell a seat cushion are the Staters of today, fast-moving, eager to help and dedicated.

Ohio Staters is a project-oriented organization. Annually, Ohio Staters leads the student United Appeal Campaign, provides money for several scholarships and sponsors pop concerts ranging from Bob Hope to the Fifth Dimension. Most recently, they successfully presented Jethro Tull to the campus "hard rock" fans. Staters brings distinguished speakers to OSU and they sponsored the anchoring of this university's submarine by the Olentangy River. Staters purchased the campus voting machines, worked to get more walks and benches on the Oval and their Rally-wagon is the answer to the student need for a portable public address system. One current project is the establishment of a President's Grove near the River Union to honor Ohio State's past presidents.

In these thirty-eight years, Ohio Staters, Inc. has worked closely with the OSU Athletic Department. Way back in the hazy history of Staters, they began to sell Marching Band records at the home football games to raise funds for band uniforms and instruments. In 1958 they expanded to include the present seat cushion sales which, surprisingly, continues to be a bigger project every year.

In 1952, Ohio Staters organized the present Block "O" section and in 1954 they presented the Paul Ebert Day to honor one of Ohio State's greatest all-American basketball and baseball players.

The Buckeye Grove, honoring each Ohio State All-American, was revitalized by Staters in 1955 and throughout the fifties Ohio Staters sponsored numerous Michigan football trains as well as two Rose Bowl trains.

Sports-O-Rama was a Staters' hit in the sixties, featuring many sports demonstrations to familiarize freshmen with this university's wide athletic program.

Most recently, Ohio Staters, Inc. has sponsored the Buckeye Blazer Project to raise money for the Student-Athlete Grant-in-Aid Fund and they shortly will present a check for more than $2,000, the equivalent of one full grant.

It has been a busy life for Ohio Staters, Inc., and their generosity and spirit will continue to enhance the prestige of Ohio State University.

COLD STORAGE

This handy 12-pack is actually a disposable icebox. It stores twelve cans of good Stroh's Beer. Once you chill the pack, the beer inside stays cold for hours.

And once you finish the beer, the inside makes a neat, disposable container for storing the empties. Try the Stroh's Iceless Icebox this weekend. It keeps its cool.

Repairing Athletic Equipment - - A Big Job

Repair and upkeep of Ohio State University's athletic equipment is one of the lesser-publicized jobs in the department—but one of the most important.

Heading this valuable enterprise is Philip C. Bennett, who has been with the department since 1954. He is assisted by Billy Biggs, son of OSU's head athletic trainer, Ernie Biggs.

Bennett and Biggs spend most of their time on football equipment, with baseball, basketball and track following in that order.

Jobs run from placing pitching toes on baseball shoes with Krome leather to making harnesses for neck exercises.

Bennett and Biggs make all of the blocking dummies for football as well as special injury pads. They not only repair shoes but also mend football pants, jerseys, helmets and shoulder pads.

Another big job is making pads for the seven-man practice sleds. They also repair track trunks and basketball jackets and trousers.

In addition to making baseball bases for the intramural department, the repairmen make tops for tennis nets and sponge rubber pads for basketball posts in St. John Arena.

Equipment in busy Room 124 in the North Facility includes six Singer Sewing machines, one Post machine which sews fiber and fiberglass, and a sole stitcher.

Ohio State athletes know their problems are in expert hands when Bennett and his young assistant move in.

As a Matter of Fact...

(Some interesting facts about Ohio State, presented by the Alumni Association)

■ Ohio State has been playing football since 1890, and has been a member of the Big Ten since 1913. The Buckeyes have been Conference champs 15 times and have won the national football crown four times, and last season shared possession of the MacArthur Bowl with Texas.

■ Ohio State has gone to the Rose Bowl six times, more than any other Big Ten team, and has won four games (1950, 1955, 1958 and 1969) in Pasadena. They lost the first time in 1921.

■ The Buckeyes have played arch-rivals Michigan 67 times, more than they've played anyone else. The series stands at 25 wins for Ohio State and 38 for Michigan, with four ties. Twenty-one of Michigan's victories came before 1935.

■ Ohio State's official alumni organization, The Ohio State University Association, is the second largest dues-paying alumni association in the nation, and the largest such organization in the Big Ten, with some 50,000 members.

■ Ohio Stadium, built through private donations by some 13,000 alumni and friends, was completed in 1922—after only 13 months of work powered mostly by horses and steam engines. A series of Ralph Fanning watercolors depicting the stadium construction is on display in Alumni House in the Center for Tomorrow, on Olentangy River Road, just across the river and north of the stadium. Stop by after the game.

■ The Ohio State University was founded as The Ohio Agricultural and Mechanical College in 1870 as a land grant college. The first class was composed of six men. Today the University has grown to well over 45,000 students in Columbus, one of the largest schools in the nation.

■ Woody Hayes has won more games and Big Ten titles (seven) than any other coach in the Conference since he came to Ohio State in 1951. At the beginning of the 1971 season, his record stood at 134 wins, 43 losses and seven ties.

■ The Ohio State Alumni Association coordinates an active alumni club program in many areas across the state and nation—probably with a chapter in your area. They'd like to get to know you.

■ Ohio State has had 52 All-Americans in 81 years of football, the first being Chic Harley and Bob Karch in 1916.

■ Some 9,000 Alumni Association members have become life members, assuring them membership benefits indefinitely without annual dues payments. Easy quarterly payments can be arranged.

■ Carroll C. Widdoes has the best won-lost percentage of the 19 coaches who have held the head football post at Ohio State. In his two seasons at Ohio State, 1944 and 1945, Widdoes won 16 and lost 2 for an .889 average.

■ Want to know more? Membership in the Alumni Association includes a subscription to The Ohio State University Monthly, the alumni magazine that will keep you in touch regularly with the University. Why not join today? Stop by Alumni House, while traffic clears, on your way home.

WARREN A. WANDLING AGENCY

Warren A. Wandling
Agency Manager - Columbus

Building an organization is much like building a football team. You secure key personnel and use good coaching and concentrate on the fundamentals of the game, progress will appear and championship form can be attained.

Here, in our agency, we have key personnel who have done a great job of recruiting quality people. Pictured on this page are some of the key personnel who do an excellent job of coaching and guiding our trainees into becoming successful, established career life underwriters. An opportunity with the Equitable can offer you lifetime security, unprecedented freedom and much responsibility. If you are a person who has a competitive background, has been serious about success and truly desires an opportunity—not a job—why not call Warren A. Wandling or one of the other agency coaches of the Wandling Agency.

Our '72 wagon tailgates go up, down, sideways, slideways and one even disappears.

We've got five different kinds of wagons. One for every kind of wagon buyer.

Wagons with different kinds of tailgates especially designed for convenience. Including one that vanishes—the window into the roof, the gate under the floor. Out of sight. Out of your way.

Wagons that seat four, six, eight, nine or as many as twelve. If you like, our Sportvan can even be converted to sleep up to six. We're serious when we say we want your 1972 Chevrolet wagon to be the very best wagon you ever owned.

Chevrolet

After the game

It's time for good food . . . and where food is finest, it's Cooked with Gas. Why do more than 90% of all professional chefs choose Gas? Because the gourmet meats, vegetables and sauces that build a great chef's reputation require instant, exact control . . . the kind of control only Gas can give.
